

THE GREATEST
QUICK-CHANGE ARTIST
IN THE WORLD

WHO IS ARTURO

Arturo Brachetti is an Italian worldwide famous artist. In many countries he's considered a living legend in theatre and performing arts. He's also a passionate and skilled artistic director of artistic comedies, magic and variety. Brachetti is nowadays the greatest quick-change artist in the world, with a "portfolio" of over 350 characters, 100 in a single show.

He's so quick that he owns a stable and unbeaten record in the Guinness Book of Records.

Arturo does not simply change his suit color, he creates each time a whole new character, from shoes to hat, transforming in a blink of an eye from Rossella O'Hara to a Mexican mariachi, from a Charleston diva to Cossack of the Don river.

Arturo appears in Turin, Italy, magic city, in 1957, but he moved his first artistic steps in Paris, where, as the only quick change artist in the World, he brings back Fregoli's forgotten art, becoming the main attraction at Paradis Latin.

His career never stopped, making him one of the few international class italian artists, with a solid fame outside his Country.

ARTURO'S UNIVERSES

Arturo puts on stage the best of the Italian art: elegance, fantasy, love for the beauty, creativity and irony. He shows the positive side of Italy to the world: the artists, the cinema, the great legends of entertainment. He creates his shows taking the best of the “maestros” of film making and variety, the comedy of art, the French variety, the same that inspired Charlie Chaplin and Federico Fellini. Naturally curious, Arturo never stopped experimenting new forms of “show making”, discovering forgotten techniques and creating new ones. As well as the variety theatre, he worked in prose theatre, cinema, fiction, classical music, traditional and contemporary circus, musical, direction and artistic direction.
